From the Baron and Baroness

Unto the most noble populace of Dun Carraig, greetings from your Baronage. We survived Our first Pennsic as your leaders and were honored to have been allowed to serve you. For those who made the journey to Pennsic, We extend our deepest thanks. Dun Carraig was an amazing force on the field, with Lord Theron and Sir Adenwald vying to see which of them could motivate Our forces the most. Our people were impeccable hosts, freely offering space for my Laurel vigil and hospitality during their Majesty's Northern Baronial Court. Those assembled in camp worked tirelessly (and often anonymously) for the good of the group, and made the war better for us all. Most touching of all, the Seadogs offered loyalty to Us and to the Crown during opening ceremonies, standing united with their Kingdom before the representatives of the Knowne World. There were many moments that made Us proud this war, but none so much as marching out of Dun Carraig (oh so early), accompanied by our camp attired in red and white. Let the cries of "Cave Canum" be heard throughout Atlantia. Let them know the nobility of the Seadogs.

If it can be said that an army travels on its stomach, then it must also be said that a Barony runs on its officers. Some of Our officers are seeking to change or retire from their offices. Please consider putting your name forward if there is an office that interests you. Not all are incredibly time intensive, and few require specialized training. Even those who have served as officers in the past may find new challenges by serving again. Our Barony cannot adequately reflect the needs of its populace if the populace is not involved in the decision making process. We need the fresh perspective that new officers bring. Please contact the Seneschal for more information on how you can help.

As the warm winds carry faint promise of winter, We prepare for the Birthday of Our Barony. Seeing as We are pleased by many things that are Norse (including His Excellency), We ask Our populace to assist those running the event in any capacity they can. This can be offers of site tokens, printing flyers or offering to stay for clean up. As this is a smaller and more intimate event, it also a perfect opportunity to introduce friends to the SCA. Our group is built upon the energy and enthusiasm of our members. Please be willing to share this magic with others, encouraging them as they discover our game.

Yours in service,

Erwin Bloodax and Mary Isabel of Heatherstone

From the Chronicler:

Greetings, Dun Carraig!

Like many of my fellow barony members, I spent two weeks camping in Western PA, getting rained on, trudging through mud, nearly keeling over from the heat, and being shoved, trampled, stepped on, and beaten with sticks. Wasn't it fun!! Seriously, despite the weather, I had a fabulous Pennsic, and I hope the rest of the barony did as well. This month's Clyffe Notes features quotes and pictures from the War, to entertain those who were there and to show those who missed it what the barony was up to.

At this time, I also wish to announce to the barony that my warrant as chronicler expires at the end of February, 2008, and I will not be renewing my warrant at that time. I've thoroughly enjoyed being Dun Carraig's chronicler (though I admit I look forward to taking handwork to meetings rather than taking notes), but it will soon be time for someone else to pick up the office. I look forward to hearing from anyone who's interested in the job. For whoever that may be, I'll give you whatever help and support I can offer.

In Service to Dun Carraig,

Lady Adriana Michaels, Baronial Chronicler

Financial Committee Meeting

Minutes

July 16, 2007

(Note: Due to Pennsic, there was no August business meeting, and therefore, no August business meeting minutes.)

A planning meeting for Baronial Birthday was held on July 16, at the home of Matthew of Summerdale and Adriana Michaels. This meeting also served as a meeting of the financial committee. After the autocrat, exchequer, seneschal, and head cook put together a budget, it was voted on by the financial committee members. Financial committee members in attendance were Theron, Serena, Adriana, and Mathias. All voted in favor of the event budget.

In addition to the normal "comps" of autocrat and head cook, the budget for Birthday included three feast comps for high table, should they be needed. (This is in response to Prince Logan's request that guests at high table who were not originally planning to eat feast not be asked to pay.)

OVERHEARD AT PENNSIC

Beware the carnivorous camp chairs!

Ooh! I can get a baroness to touch my butt for a buck!

Well, I was trying to help him get it in the hole where it's supposed to go.

“You're naked!” “Yeah, and we're going out to dinner with her parents.”

Hey, look, naked baroness!

I've got a butt in my eye!

You've got to push it right to get it in. You can't just shove it.

We don't have any wayward souls.

I walk by and they say the magic words—boobage!

You know, I am seriously envying your spear. I mean, you've seen what I carry around. It's gorgeous, but it's really heavy.

OVERHEARD AT PENNSIC

Go, go Gadget Legs! Go, go Gadget Spear!

Well, I was trying to help him get it in the hole where it's supposed to go.

What, my husband's underwear aren't good enough for you?

Don't tell them about the body painting.

He's her first Neanderthal.

How about we set up a game of Twister in front of the vigil tent, and, instead of a waiting list, anyone who wants to speak to her will play their way across.

No self-respecting buffalo would wear that.

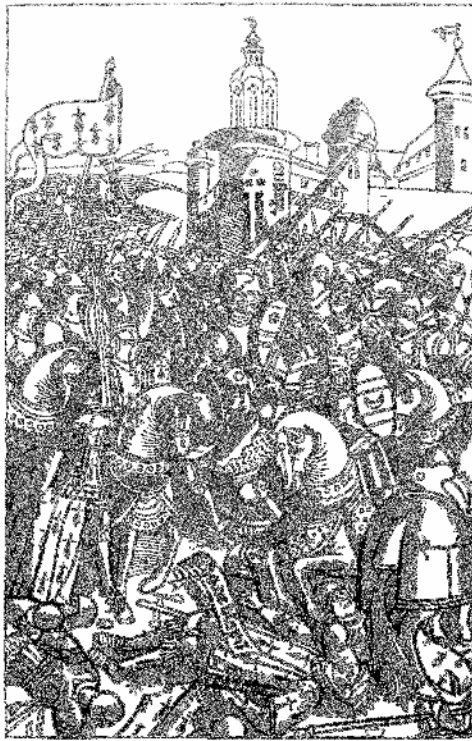

I did not actually sit in the baroness's lap. I merely suggested it.

Then I'd have to start wearing Molly's underwear. And that would get awkward.

Everything you need can be accomplished by fire and duct tape.

The Wisdom of St. Rowena

"Staying home from Pennsic does no more to guarantee one fair weather than going to Pennsic does to guarantee foul."

Cave Canum!
